

You have a friend who forgot her lunch at home. Do you share some of yours with her?

It's storming outside and a stranger knocks on your front door. He asks if he can sit on your front porch until the rain stops. Do you let him?

Your Awana group is collecting shoeboxes for needy children this Christmas. Do you fill up a box and bring it in?

Your school teacher breaks his leg and is in the hospital. Do you go to visit him?

A new family moves in down the street from you. Will you take cookies to welcome them even though you have no idea who they are?

Your best friend comes over to play. He becomes thirsty. Do you give him something to drink?

You have the opportunity to make something for women who are in prison. Do you choose to make it nice, neat, and colorful?

A little girl and her family do not have enough money to buy new coats for the winter. Do you share one of yours with her?